Introduction

The book serves to make a person mature, to expand the scope of thinking, and to increase vocabulary. In addition, a person who has studied a lot will be polite, approachable and will have a place in the community. By reading the book attentively, imagining and thinking, the human mind does not lose its depth even in old age. Of course, if this becomes a constant training. The book brings us to light and happiness. A decrease in book reading leads to a decrease in spirituality. A society whose spirituality is waning does not progress in development. It is known from our past that we are the descendants of book lovers, scholars, world leaders who amazed the world. Our pride is far from heaven. Being worthy of it is one of our most important tasks. As our President Shavkat Mirmonovich Mirziyoyev said, our people should know this very well: We have a long and difficult road ahead of us. If all of us stick together and study tirelessly, if we do our work perfectly and productively, if we strive forward without sparing ourselves by acquiring modern knowledge, then our life and society will definitely change. I firmly believe in this and I think that you will also support this opinion.

Currently, effective work is being done to improve libraries, book products and mass reading culture in our country. As a proof of this, we can cite the Decree of our President dated January 2, 2017 "On the establishment of a commission on the development of the system of printing and distribution of book products, increasing and promoting the culture of book reading and reading". As a result of these decisions, additional new bookstores were opened throughout our country, and the quality of service to the population was greatly improved. It is becoming a tradition to hold events and contests about "Literacy" in our regions. In which country do you say that a child who reads books is given a car? In particular, we need to study and analyze more foreign experiences in applying innovative methods to the information-library activities of the head of our state. His words are true.

One of the wise men said, "He who does not read a book stops thinking." Someone objected to this and said, "I have never read a book in my life, but I think?" It is true that both educated and uneducated people think. But how does he think? Does the thought make sense? Can he gain attention among others with this idea? Some parents struggle with this. "I brought a book worth some, my son did not read a single page," he says. "Did you read that book yourself?" we ask.

"Do you have time to read a book?" we hear the answer. Sometimes our women find time to gossip with the neighboring women, and have no time to read books. Our men are also wasting their time in teahouses. But they don't have time to read books. Sometimes parents are lost on the phone. "Tik-Tok", "Instagram" and others. Are you preparing a lesson with your child? Are you reading a book together? Are you having a conversation? Are you playing when it's your turn? The answer to these questions lies with you. My answer is this: I play with my children like children. We play our game "puppy-puppy". We will create a scenario in our own way. We will be heroes in our own way. I wish you could see the joy of my children at that time. Everyone does what I say without a word. I don't think that we will make a child read a book or prepare a lesson without satisfying his needs. I didn't know again. First of all, we should make reading a daily habit. After all, they say, "A bird does what it sees in its nest." I feel sorry for the time some students are going through.

They are very attached to the phone. They are wasting their precious time by watching unnecessary videos. Aiming to enter the university during the entrance exam, he reaches this peak by reading a lot of books and working hard. They are very strong, but they have lost their purpose. It would be good if students now aim to become educated staff and create innovations in their field. There are many opportunities for us to learn science. It's enough if you want. If we don't lose our youth, if we use the inner possibilities of youth, the memory of youth, if we discover miracles, if we make our proper contribution to the future of our country, we would not be troubled by our conscience. There is a servant who is embarrassed in front of both himself and Allah regarding the study of knowledge. There is hardly anyone who has not been careless and has not lost time. It would not be wrong to say that those who realized that knowledge is very necessary only when they leave this world make up half of humanity! Forget the ignorant, ask the famous sage: "What did you learn after learning so much?" When they asked him, he replied, "I don't know anything." A lot of knowledge attributed to such a person will not reach the owner. What is science? An invention in a certain field or mastering world sciences at a high level? Or memorizing the Qur'an? No, it's not Shuguna! Science is learning to be a good person. It is a source of knowledge that teaches how to live correctly and avoid sins. The gift of knowledge was given to protect this world and mankind from Satan. May God forgive us, let us be ashamed of our ignorance and lack of pursuit of knowledge!

In conclusion, as a future librarian, I would like to contribute to the increase of reading in our nation. An increase in book reading is a means of spending time productively, as well as striving for a brighter future. It would be appropriate if we make it a habit to read 4-5 pages of books a day if reading books and spiritual nourishment become our daily needs. At the end of my speech, I would like to say that I would not be mistaken if I say that the book is a boat that leads you and us only towards goodness. Our sages say that "to learn little, you need to read a lot." Today, in response to the conditions created by our President, we need to learn a lot and study a lot. Our libraries have enough books and conditions for reading, but not enough readers. Even the highest technology cannot give the pleasure that a book gives. After all, the service of the book in the creation of these technologies is incomparable. Phones were created for human needs. We know very well its useful and harmful aspects. We all know that reading books is useful. But we do not follow. We have a lot of excuses, they say, "What's the use of reading a book, I would become a scientist by reading it." Ask those who have read the book what pleasure and pleasure there is when reading a book!!! There are many compatriots who were lucky enough to read books, but now they are retired, but they still keep books, notebooks, and pens in their hands. Reading books has become their spiritual need. As long as we have such people, our renewed Uzbekistan will flourish even more.
